

Nancy K. Pfaadt holds a masters degree from Austin Peay State University in clinical psychology. She has worked as an outpatient therapist in substance abuse treatment and worked as a court designated worker in the juvenile justice system. She developed and implemented the Early Intervention Substance Abuse Program, a juvenile court diversion project for substance abusing offenders and their parents. She has served on the Kentucky Juvenile Justice Advisory Board (KY JJAB), from 1998 until the present and worked as a contract compliance monitor for the Department of Juvenile Justice ensuring compliance with the four core requirements of the JJDP Act. She completed the Center for Substance Abuse Prevention (CSAP) two year fellowship program working with the KY State Prevention Office on various statewide Alcohol, Tobacco and Other Drug prevention projects. In addition to serving as the KPN Coordinator she is the business manager for the Kentucky Certification Board for Prevention Professionals, a certification that she currently holds.